Navy Women in Service Implementation Plan

Navy is fully committed to equal professional opportunities for all uniformed personnel. Currently, over 88% of all Navy billets are open to females. This is the result of Navy's deliberate and steady review and expansion of opportunities at sea for females that began with the first assignment of females onboard ships in 1994. We fully intend to continue our expansion of opportunity in a thoughtful and deliberate manner; our goal is to continue to ensure all Navy men and women have the opportunity to succeed and are set up for success with viable career paths while preserving our warfighting capability.

To review, the following positions are presently closed:

- Female enlisted on FFGs (costs of appropriate berthing and privacy arrangements are prohibitive)
- Female enlisted on PCs (costs of appropriate berthing and privacy arrangements are prohibitive)
- Female enlisted on MCMs (costs of appropriate berthing and privacy arrangements are prohibitive)
- Female enlisted in Coastal Riverine Force small craft (unit below brigade level, primary mission to engage in direct ground combat)
- Female enlisted assigned to USMC Ground Combat Element below battalion level (unit below brigade level, primary mission to engage in direct ground combat)
- Female officers on LA and Seawolf class submarines (costs of appropriate berthing and privacy arrangements are prohibitive)

The following occupations are presently closed:

- SEAL Officer, SEAL LDO, SEAL CWO, SEAL enlisted (SB, SO) (units engaged in Special Operations Forces missions)
- Enlisted ratings solely associated with duty on submarines (ETN, ETR, FT, ITS, MME, MMW, MT, STS) (costs of appropriate berthing and privacy arrangements are prohibitive)

In accordance with SECDEF's February 2013 memo rescinding the direct ground combat exclusion, Navy submits the following plan (TAB A) which maximizes all feasible professional opportunities for females in the Navy. With this plan, we fully envision Navy will have no closed occupations, very limited number of closed positions, and equal professional opportunity for females in every officer designator and enlisted rating in the Navy by January 2016.

- Navy intends in July 2013 to submit to OSD for Congressional notification, our intent to open Coastal Riverine Force small craft to female officers and enlisted. Upon approval, there will be no restrictions to the assignment of females in the Coastal Riverine Force.
- As coordinated with USMC, Navy intends to assign females to USMC Ground Combat Element as positions are opened by USMC. Navy personnel will adhere to USMC occupational standards where applicable.
- As coordinated with U.S. SOCOM, Navy and NSWC intend to follow the SOCOM-developed integrated timeline for the potential integration of females into Special Forces.

- Navy has opened opportunity to women officers on all submarine types (SSN, SSBN, SSGN). Navy will decide NLT March 2015 whether, in addition to service on Virginia class submarines, women officers will be assigned to:
 - LA class submarines
 - Seawolf class submarines
- As publicly announced in Jan 2013, Navy intends to assign enlisted women to Virginia class submarines. Navy will decide NLT March 2015 on whether to expand assignment of enlisted women to other submarine classes.
- Women officers and enlisted currently serve on virtually every surface ship class in the Navy and we will continue to expand opportunity as new ships and ship classes are commissioned. Navy will decide NLT June 2014 whether to expand assignment opportunity for enlisted women to:
 - FFGs (all but 1 FFG due to be decommissioned by 2016)
 - MCMs (due to decommission by FY 2024, replaced by LCS with Mine Warfare Mission Module) which will be open to women, officer and enlisted.
 - PCs (due to decommission by 2024)
